

boys to do well. I prefer to let the crews speak themselves.

James Ten Eyck, for Syracuse: "We have the same crew practically as last year; the same shell; the same rigging; I am the same, and I hope the result will be the same."

Andrew O'Dea, for Wisconsin: "We have had a good deal of hard luck, and I have four green men in the boat. Still, I consider this a better crew than that of last year, and I have hopes that we will be up at the finish."

Jasper Goodwin, for Columbia: "I prefer not to prophesy about the race. Our men are in splendid physical condition and have been doing splendid work in practice. I hope they will do well."

P. A. Dempsey, for Georgetown: "While we have had many hardships this year, I believe we have an eight that will make a creditable showing. If my crew does as well in the race as it has done in practice we will be in at the finish."

Ellis Ward, for Pennsylvania: "I have a green crew, and, frankly, I do not see how we can expect to finish very far up in the varsity race. Still, sometimes green men do surprisingly well, and, of course, we have hopes."

Georgetown Third in Race Is Conceded as Possibility

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., June 28.—What are Georgetown's chances in the Intercollegiate regatta?

Handicapped at home by the lack of proper facilities and somewhat retarded since arriving here by the accident to Stuart, No. 4, who wrenched his knee, the Blue and Gray is none too well thought of by the average follower of the aquatic pastime, but this feeling tends to judgment at Georgetown headquarters.

There can be no doubt in the minds of those who have followed the two eights that this year's race is far the superior in many ways over the outfit who sponsored the Blue and Gray last year.

It is admitted that the time made by Captain Graham's men in their trials on the Potomac was faster than that made by last year's crew. The form of the Washington aggregation this year is better than was the rowing of the eight of 1904.

Those who are in touch with affairs at Cornell headquarters have assured the writer that Georgetown is not lightly considered by Cornell as his assistant and while Georgetown is hardly considered among the probable winners, the crew is considered as having an even chance for this year, which in every way would be virtually a victory for the Washingtonians.

CROWD MOBS UMPIRE ON THE WHITE LOT

Interference of Police Alone Saves Ed Handiboe From Being Roughly Handled.

Timely interference by the police saved Ed Handiboe, pitcher for St. Stephen's, from being roughly handled by the spectators at the game played between the St. Stephen and Aloysius clubs on the White Lot yesterday afternoon.

The spectators seemed to think Umpire Handiboe was favoring his brother, Will Handiboe, pitcher for St. Stephen, in the ninth inning. The climax came when the umpire called Spillane out at first base, when it appeared to the runner was safe by a good margin. Carroll, playing first base for St. Stephen, being pulled off the base at least two feet by the throw of Moriarty from short.

The game at this stage was 3 to 5 in favor of St. Stephen, and the Aloysius boys were enjoying a grand batting rally. When Handiboe called Spillane out at first and Ricker out for interfering with the play of the shortstop, the crowd broke loose and stormed the umpire. Cries of "Mob" were heard on all sides, and it was but the work of a minute when Handiboe was at the mercy of the enraged crowd.

The police who were among the spectators quickly interfered, and saved the umpire from being roughly handled.

The Aloysius team refused to again go on the field, as they claimed they were absolutely robbed of the game.

Up to the last inning the game was a good exhibition of baseball, and had proper precautions been taken to keep the crowd back from the base line this unfortunate termination would probably have been averted.

SENATOR MITCHELL FAILS TO TESTIFY

Offers Only One Witness in Land "Graft" Case, Which Will Go to the Jury Today.

PORTLAND, Ore., June 28.—United States Senator John H. Mitchell did not testify for himself in the land fraud cases, and the defense rested within an hour yesterday after the court had been called to order.

Only one witness was examined by the defense—J. A. Martin, of Portland—who testified that he had asked the Senator to secure the establishment of the harbor lines several years ago in order that a wharf might be constructed. The Senator did, as requested, and refused all compensation for his services.

Counsel on both sides discussed the instructions to be given to the jury when the case was sent to it, and then Mr. Henry argued the case of the prosecution for two hours. He said it was the duty of the jury to decide the case on the evidence presented, and of the age, or position in life of the defendant, regarding the tears of grown men and the sobriety of children.

It is expected that the case will go to the jury late this afternoon.

MUST CLOSE OLD WELLS AND DANGEROUS PONDS

Notices will be served by the District Commissioners upon the owners of all property in the District upon which open wells, cisterns, dangerous holes and excavations are reported to exist by the police.

The order will be issued to abate the nuisances at once. The list of more dangerous places submitted to the Commissioners by Major Rykewer on June 26 will be made the subject of notices. This action is taken upon the recommendation of Commissioner West.

SAILORS FROM SUNNY ITALY AS SEEN ON THE CITY'S STREETS

ITALIAN MIDSHIPMEN GUESTS OF THE TIMES

The jolly tars from the Italian cruiser Dagoli were given the right of way all over the city yesterday and will continue to have the same right so long as they remain here. Although the headquarters of the sailors is at Alexandria, where the Dagoli is anchored, all those not on duty there are now visiting the Nation's Capital.

From early in the day until late last night the tars were seen walking up and down Pennsylvania avenue from the White House to the Library of Congress, and a great deal of attention they attracted too, in their natty uniforms, a combination of white cap, blue blouse and white duck trousers.

Although the trip around the world is yet young, a great many ports have been already visited. The ship has already touched at Gibraltar and several ports in the West Indies and South America, and which have never before been visited by such a ship. Las Palmas, Barbados, Martinique, Haiti, Porto Rico, Santiago, Havana, Trinidad, Georgetown, Britia Demarara, Paramaribo, Dutch Guiana, New Orleans, Pensacola, and other smaller ports, both in this country and in South America, have all received their share of attention from the officers and crew of the Dagoli.

Guests of The Times.

Yesterday afternoon a party of young non-commissioned officers landed in this city from the Washington, Alexandria and Mt. Vernon railway, and started down the avenue to see the sights. When they were almost to Ninth street on the avenue they were caught up with and taken in tow by a reporter and artist of The Times' staff. They were safely piloted to The Times office, where they had their pictures drawn and through an interpreter told the reporter of some of their experiences and their interest in the machinery and passes, and as the presses were not running, begged permission to return Thursday afternoon and see the huge machinery of a modern American newspaper in full swing.

After looking over what was to be seen at The Times office, they took great company with the reporter and interpreter started out to visit some of the places of interest to every visitor to the Capital City.

The first place visited was the Library of Congress. The Italians went into rhapsodies over the coloring in the great hallway near the entrance and one more enthusiastic than the rest said the work almost compared with that to be seen in the great cathedrals of Venice. They went entirely through the library and were then taken through a small part of the Capitol, but on account of the lateness of the hour were unable to see much of the building.

The party were the guests of The Times at dinner last night, after which they visited Chevy Chase Lake. The officers again had their enthusiasm aroused by the pretty picture presented by the electrically lighted lake and the hill above literally a mass of small electric globes. The music furnished by the Marine Band was highly approved by the officers also.

A WIDOW'S LUCK

Quit the Thing That Was Slowly Killing Her.

A woman tells how coffee kept her from insuring her life:

"I suffered for many years chiefly from trouble with my heart, with severe nervous headaches and neuralgia, but although incapacitated at times for my house work, I did not realize the gravity of my condition till I was rejected for life insurance, because, the examining physician said my heart was so bad he could not pass me. This distressed me very much as I was a widow and had a child dependent upon me. It was to protect her future that I wanted to insure my life."

"Fortunately for me, I happened to read an advertisement containing a testimonial from a man who had been affected in the same way that I was with heart trouble, and who was cured by leaving off coffee and using Postum Food Coffee. I grasped at the hope this held out, and made the change at once. My health began to improve immediately. The headaches and neuralgia disappeared, I gained in flesh, and my appetite came back to me at once. Greatest of all, my heart was strengthened from the beginning, and soon all the distressing symptoms passed away. No more waking up in the night with my heart trying to fly out of my mouth! Then I again made application for life insurance, and had no trouble in passing the medical examination."

"It was seven years ago that I began to use Postum Food Coffee, and I am using it still, and shall continue to do so, as I find in it a guarantee of good health and a means of keeping my Postum Food Coffee, Battle Creek, Mich."

There is a reason. Read the little book, "The Road to Wellville," in each pkg.
